Airships Favored Over Steamers in Sea Tourist Trade

U. S. Inclines to View of Dutch and German Interests

PLAN 2 DIRIGIBLES Department of Commerce Backs Idea—Navy Is Opposed

WASHINGTON.—(P)—A proposal that the federal government construct two giant dirigibles for regularly scheduled round-the-world passenger service rested Wednesday before the Federal Aviation Commission for its consideration.

Word of the proposal came out as Secretary Swanson intimated that the Navy General Board had taken a stand against lighter-than-air craft and would not recommend replacing the huge Akron, destroyed in a fatal plunge into the Atlantic in 1933.

Commerce Department in favor of the dirigibles, submitted the round-the-world proposal with strong endorsement.

Under the plan, the government would build the dirigibles and lease them to the Goodyear-Zeppelin Company, their builders, for $1 a year. The Goodyear-Zeppelin organization would operate the service in conjunction with Dutch and German interests.

The Dutch group, flying its own craft, would operate between Amsterdam, Holland and Batavia in the Dutch East Indies.

The American company would link Batavia with the Eastern coast of the United States while the Germans would fly their ships from this country to Amsterdam.

$17,000,000 Outlay
The proposal, designed primarily for development of lighter-than-air craft, calls for an expenditure of $17,000,000 for construction of two dirigibles of the Zeppelin type, one all-metal dirigible and an air terminal on the Atlantic seaboard. The all-metal ship would be used in South American service.

The proposal to spend $17,000,000 on dirigibles and an air terminal was developed at a series of conferences attended by Mitchell, Goodyear-Zeppelin representatives, and members of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

Dr. G. W. Lewis, representing the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, told the commission: "The committee believes it would be more economical to provide fast inter-continental transportation by use of airships and large seaplanes than to engage in the competition which is now taking place among the nations of Europe in the building of high-speed seaplanes for their merchant marine."

Tip Received on Nashville Kidnap

Ex-Sing Sing Convict Implicated in Tennessee Case

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(P)—District Attorney General J. Carlton Loefer said Wednesday he had received information which, "if true," will be valuable in solving the disappearance of six-year-old Dorothy Distelhorst, who last was seen eight days ago en route home from school. The nature of the information was not disclosed.

A man giving his name as William Strithurst, 34, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was held at Kingsport for investigation, and a Department of Justice agent was sent from Nashville to join in questioning him.

Police Chief C. G. Crawford of Kingsport said Strithurst told him that "he was paroled last February from Sing Sing prison in New York where he had been serving a sentence for kidnaping," and the chief added that "we're planning to check his story to see if it's true. The man admits being in Nashville when the Distelhorst child disappeared, but says he knows nothing about it."

Strithurst was taken into custody, the chief said, when it was reported he had chased two small boys in a residential section of Kingsport. Strithurst was found in a box car.

Continued absence of any communication from kidnapers led authorities to the opinion that the girl, if kidnapped, was the victim of an attacker.

Manager Swanke's offer is just another indication of the popular support given Coach Hammons and the best Hope football team in ten years.

The coach and the players will be guests at a banquet and community pep-meeting Thursday night at the New Capital hotel, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Tendered by the Young Business Men's association, the banquet will draw scores of business men from all over the city to give the team a final sendoff before the hard and important game against Camden Friday night.

Although outweighed 14 pounds to the man, Hope is conceded an even chance to "take" Camden. Coach Hammons is famous for devising surprise plays in midfield, where scoring is more easily accomplished than close to the goal line, at which point weight is all-important.

This style of play was in evidence last Friday, when virtually all of Hope's scoring moves started in mid-field.

President Moves Swiftly to Adjust Textile Labor Dispute

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Francis J. Gorman, chairman of the textile strike committee, Thursday called upon all workers to have confidence in the new textile labor relations board and to withhold any action toward renewal of the strike.

Gorman's plea was issued as the new board, set up by President Roosevelt Wednesday night, went to work with instructions to investigate charges of discrimination against union members.

Board Appointed
WASHINGTON.—(P)—Three men widely experienced in the delicate art of settling disputes between employers and their workers were appointed Wednesday night by President Roosevelt to adjust the recurring labor controversies of the textile industry.

Walter P. Stacy, chief justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court, Rear Admiral Henry A. Wiley, retired, and James Mullenbach of Chicago.

They also constitute the personnel of the Steel Labor Board, named several months ago to settle employer-employee disputes in that industry.

In an executive order establishing them as a board for the textile industry, Mr. Roosevelt took the first step recommended by the presidential Mediation Board, appointed to settle the recent great strike in that industry.

Their first task is expected to be the adjudication of numerous complaints of discrimination against strikers by employers in the relieving of workers following the close of the walk-out.

Mr. Roosevelt had told newsmen earlier that he was investigating these alleged discriminations, but had given no indication that the appointment of the board would be announced so promptly.

Bruno Hauptmann Pleads Not Guilty

Bail of $100,000 Fixed on Suspect in Lindbergh Case

Hauptmann Appears Dazed by Swift, Brief Proceedings

LINDBERGH PRESENT Aviator, Disguised, Watches Prisoner in Police Lineup

NEW YORK.—(P)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann Thursday pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging him with extorting $50,000 from Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh for the return of the flier's kidnapped son.

Bail was fixed at $100,000. Hauptmann appeared to be in a daze during the brief proceedings and he said nothing.

The plea of not guilty was made through defense counsel, who also asked for low bail.

Lindbergh viewed Hauptmann when the latter appeared in the police lineup Thursday.

The flier, disguised in horn-rimmed glasses and a cap, stood with detectives and viewed the German who is accused of extorting money from him.

Deputy Chief Inspector Henry Bruckman, in charge of Bronx detectives, said:

"As far as we are concerned our case against Hauptmann is complete."

NRA Boards Will Replace Johnson

Roosevelt Studying Reorganization of Recovery Bureaus

WASHINGTON.—(P)—President Roosevelt is expected to name a board of five within the next 24 hours to administer the reorganized recovery unit (NRA), it was learned Thursday.

The president has decided definitely upon a board of five to replace the one-man leadership of Hugh S. Johnson, resigned.

It is assumed the new board would take over much of the task of reorganizing the NRA.

Meanwhile Roosevelt is giving his thought to the radio address which he will deliver to the nation Sunday night.

Replace Johnson
WASHINGTON.—(P)—President Roosevelt personally undertook Wednesday the guidance of NRA toward a new era of business control—a method of management by boards instead of individuals.

In sharp contrast with the still-absent Hugh S. Johnson's original swift marshaling of the Blue Eagle emergency battle, he moved guardedly toward the goal of permanency. There was intent watch for, but no indication of whether the reshaping would be done along more liberal or conservative lines.

Mr. Roosevelt, shortly after his return from Hyde Park, N. Y., told newspapermen the process was under way but that it would be evolutionary rather than sudden. He conferred with Donald R. Richberg, newly risen to the post of chief coordinator of New Deal recovery activities. The president demonstrated that he would disclose the course of his newest business moves only when his plans were in shape.

Asked whether he would answer the recent requests of organized business for a clarification of his policies on budget balancing, NRA and finances, he turned a jest. Then he added a belief that industry should exert more leadership toward the recovery goal.

SOUGHT APARTMENT 9 House Managers Recall Couple Tried to Rent Rooms Monday

DETROIT, Mich.—(P)—A warrant charging first degree murder was issued Thursday for M. W. Goodrich, trap-drummer, who is being sought with his attractive wife since the body of 11-year-old Lillian Gallaher was found in their apartment.

The search centers in the northwest section of Detroit, where managers of nine apartment houses said a couple closely resembling the Goodrichs had sought to rent an apartment Monday night.

The hunt has spread all over the United States, with circulars describing the couple being mailed to every police department.

Baker Takes Post Vacated by Rhyne

Maintenance Supervisor Appointed Director of State Highways

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—J. C. Baker, state maintenance supervisor, was appointed director of highways to succeed James R. Rhyne, resigned by the Arkansas highway commission late Wednesday.

Rhyne's resignation, which was submitted to the commission August 29, was accepted effective October 1.

The commission named John Buxton, Wynne, supervisor for highway district two, to succeed Baker as maintenance supervisor.

Ray W. Spence, secretary of the commission, announced that selection of Buxton's successor would be the director's office October 1.

The commission did not act on the resignation of J. A. Francis, department purchasing agent, and Spence said decision was referred to Baker.

The new highway director is a resident of Little Rock and a former resident of Poinsett county. He began service with the department in February, 1933, as supervisor of district five. Wednesday's appointment was his second promotion.

Rhyne, the retiring director, took office in February of last year when the present commission began its duties. During his 20 months of service, Rhyne reports to the commission that approximately $15,000,000 had been spent for construction and maintenance.

He praised the commission as one of the most business like with which he had associated during his 25 years. Rhyne said he planned to take a short vacation after October 1.

31,265 Cans Put Out in Hempstead

Total Output by Emergency Relief Administration 3 1/2 Million

Canning output of the Emergency Relief Administration have passed the 3,500,000 mark and the financial value of the output is approximately $700,000 according to a report filed by Miss Gladys L. Waters, garden and food conservationist for the administration.

The report, complete through August 30, shows that Hempstead county has canned 31,265 cans of vegetables, fruits and meats.

The kidnapers of young Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., left a note behind when they abducted the baby from its crib at Hopewell, N. J., in 1932. Now for the first time authorities permit the reproduction of the note with its curious interlocking identification symbol. The three black dots in the symbol are holes that experts say were made by a carpenter's file. The note reads:

Joseph Perrone, taxi driver, shown after appearing before the Bronx County, N. Y., Grand Jury, testified that Bruno Hauptmann gave him a note to deliver to Dr. John F. Condon during the Lindbergh ransom negotiations.

To Register All Cotton Transfers

Three Plans Available for Handling of Tax Exemption Certificates

The forms necessary for the transfer of cotton tax exemption certificates from one producer to another have not been received in the county agent's office, Frank Stanley announced Thursday.

A news article Monday advised of the illegality of transferring the certificates within the county without proper registration with the county agent. The bulletin also advised that the forms necessary for recording of such transactions had not been received at the office and until further notice all producers should discontinue selling the certificates until notified.

C. A. Cubb, chief of the cotton production section commodities division, Washington, recently wired Mr. Stanley the following regarding sale of the certificates in Hempstead county:

"Regarding your telegram of the 21st, that producers are selling certificates to others within the same county without recording in the county office: This is a violation of regulations. Advise growers and producers such activities subject certificates to cancellation. Unless such procedures discontinue at once, advise you submit this office serial numbers of certificates involved."

For those producers holding surplus certificates, three different ways have been prescribed for handling of the certificates.

First, the producer can hold the certificates until next year for use at that time, provided the Bankhead law is in force at that time.

Second, the certificates may be sold within the county from producer to producer, with both parties involved coming to the county agent's office to fill out the necessary transfer forms.

The third way is for the holder of the certificates to place them in the National Certificate Pool, operated by the government, where they will be sold as long as there remains a market. The sales will be prorated among those taking part in the pool, the remaining unsold certificates being returned to the producer for use next year.

Mr. Stanley said Thursday that the third plan was not yet to be put into effect and notice would be issued from his office at whatever time the plan is effective.

Star Advertisement Finds Suitcase for a Foreign Visitor

Because Joseph Schmid, of Bremen, Germany, placed an advertisement in The Star Wednesday he won't have any trouble getting back home.

The last time the office staff of The Star saw Mr. Schmid, which was Tuesday, Mr. Schmid was nearly in tears. He was returning from Mexico by motor car to Chicago, thence by train to New York, whence he was to sail for Germany October 6. But his passport and other important travel papers were in a suitcase—and some where between Shreveport and Hope the suitcase was lost from his car, on highway No. 29.

He put an advertisement in Wednesday's Star, and left a $5 reward at The Star office, with shipping instructions in case the suitcase should be recovered.

The Star hit the rural routes Thursday morning—and at noon Carl Fuller Hope Route One, turned up with the suitcase. He had found it Tuesday on highway No. 29 four miles south of Hope, and saw the advertisement in The Star.

Locksmith Mills opened the suitcase, the travel papers identified it as belonging to Mr. Schmid—Carl got his reward and by Saturday Mr. Schmid will have his suitcase safe and sound in Chicago.

Negro's Legs Are Broken in Crash

Renton Redd Victim of Collision Near City Hall Wednesday

Renton Redd, negro, 50, is in Josephine hospital Thursday as the result of an automobile accident in the city Wednesday night in which both his legs were broken just above the ankle.

Redd was riding on a truck returning from Duolay's Ferry, where he had spent the day picking cotton, when near driven by John Owens struck the rear of the truck at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night near Hope city hall.

Redd's legs were hanging over the back of the truck, and both were broken.

Mr. Owens immediately placed Redd in his car and rushed him to the hospital.

The cotton-pickers truck was driven by Andrew Sutton.

Negro Is Arrested as Local Prowler

Leonard Brown Held by Police for Robbery of Residences Here

Leonard Brown, local negro who was sent to the penitentiary last year for stealing a mule, was in the toils of the police again Thursday on a charge of robbery.

Brown is charged with daylight prowling, being accused of forcibly entering 10 different houses on the edge of Hope the last several days. He was arrested Wednesday night, Chief of Police Clarence E. Baker said.

Brown is the son of Sinter Brown, who was electrocuted several years ago for the murder of a negro woman, police said.

Jury in Trial of Convict Guard Is Taken to the Spot

Jurors and Deputies Re-Enact Parts of Guard and Hunted Woman

AMBUSH, IS THEORY Court Wishes to Know Whether Martin Hid Self in Underbrush

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—The jury trying Trusty Guard Frank Martin of the Arkansas state penitentiary for the slaying last July of Helen Spence Eaton Thursday examined the scene of the killing 25 miles north of here and participated in a re-enactment of the trusty's fatal pursuit.

The jurors took turns standing at the spot where Martin stood when he shot Helen, and noted the line of fire and the general physical conditions of the scene.

Deputies and jurors took turns standing on the marked spot where the young woman convict's body fell.

Much conflicting testimony has been heard on whether the underbrush in the vicinity furnished Martin with an ambush or whether conditions were such as to give Helen a clear view of the man hunting her.

A Surprise Witness
LITTLE ROCK.—A surprise witness testified Wednesday night in the murder trial of Frank Martin that the trusty guard threatened to shoot Helen Spence Eaton if he found the girl fugitive who had escaped from the state farm for women the fifth time.

Immediately after this testimony given by H. L. Billings, a resident of Bayou Meto township, the state rested its case, and the defense attorneys began introduction of testimony to show that Martin shot the armed fugitive in self-defense.

Circuit Judge W. J. Waggoner of Lonoke, who twice sentenced Helen Spence Eaton to the penitentiary for killing two men, testified for the defense that the state's bad girl "was considered a killer," and the recounted briefly her slaying of Jack Worris in his Arkansas county Circuit Court during Worris' trial for murdering her father, Cicero Spence.

After seven witnesses for the defense had been heard, court was adjourned until 9 a. m. Thursday and the jury was locked up for the night.

Where Killing Occurred
Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Lawrence C. Auten notified Judge McGeehe, presiding in First Division Circuit Court, that he would request Thursday that the jurors be taken to the scene of the slaying on a lonely road in the northeast corner of the county to see for themselves the spot where the criminal career of the White river shantytown girl came to a violent end.

Purpose of the proposed visit, he explained is to show there was sufficient undergrowth and foliage in the field beside the road to permit the convict guard to shoot the girl from ambush, as claimed by the state. The defense contends Martin was plainly visible to the fugitive from the spot in the road where she was shot down, and three-fourths of the testimony introduced Wednesday by both sides bore on this point.

Defense Attorneys W. W. Shepherd and Madrid B. Loftin did not indicate what attitude they would take toward the proposed jury visit. Judge McGeehe was not enthusiastic.

To Establish Premeditation
The surprise witness, Billings, was introduced by Mr. Auten in an effort to show premeditation.

"I was going home from Little Rock," Billings related, "and I saw Martin walking down the road with a gun in his hand. That was on the Baby's Teeth Require Care Before Birth!

Care of the baby's teeth involves, first of all, care of the mother's teeth during the period before her baby is born. The care of the mother's teeth during this time will provide her with a suitable diet for both her and her child.

Calcification of the first set of the baby's teeth begins during the fourth and fifth months before its birth. Good teeth, therefore, are determined largely before a child is born.

Since most babies depend on their mothers for nourishment during the period of early infancy, as well as before birth, much depends on how the mother feeds during the nursing period. Her diet must contain bone and tooth substances, such as calcium and phosphorus, and the necessary vitamins for making calcium and phosphorus available to the baby.

The chief sources of calcium and phosphorus material are milk, leafy vegetables, fruit juices, whole-grain cereals, eggs, cheese and nuts. Milk is by far the best source of the necessary minerals.

Evidence developed by investigators shows that calcium is not stored in the body, and that it must be supplied daily in the diet or harm will result to the bones and teeth.

Since children are artificially fed, instead of being fed on mother's milk, their diets must include these same substances in adequate amounts.

Since the human being can eat only a certain amount of food at any one time, it is necessary to avoid pastries, highly spiced foods, too much tea and coffee and large amounts of meat in order that adequate amounts of spinach, grapefruit, cauliflower, peas, celery, string beans, carrots, beets, leeks and asparagus may be taken.

If the baby is breast fed, the body of its mother selects suitable substances for the mother's milk, so that it contains the right materials. There is no better food for babies than mother's milk.

Care of the mouths of babies for protection of their teeth does not involve a great deal of attention. If the baby is well and if it gets the right food and plenty of water, its mouth will need little if any attention until the first teeth appear.

After that its gums and teeth may be wiped off daily with a soft cloth dipped in water, to which a pinch of salt has been added. This should be done exceedingly gently. At the 18th month, the teeth may be brushed daily with a small tooth brush and, as soon as the child is old enough, it should be taught to brush its own teeth.

Intolerance is not always an evil thing. Considered broadly, it may be nothing more than the reaction which an alert society displays to any force which threatens its continued existence; conversely, it may be the reaction of a rebel or reformer to established institutions which he dislikes.

And the reverse side of this is that tolerance itself may be nothing better than indifference.

These aspects of the question are brought out in "Intolerance," by Winfred Ernest Garrison, a careful survey of the things society has done in response to mankind's long fight for freedom.

It is a sensible and intelligent consideration of a very difficult subject. For, as Dr. Garrison points out, intolerance is not an evil thing per se. It is only when people are intolerant of the wrong things, or intolerance for the wrong reasons, that it becomes a curse.

This happens, he continues, when intolerance is motivated by fear or by hatred, or is based on ignorance and greed. Since the race is what it is, this is usually the case; and then the story of the fight against intolerance is the magnificent story of the fight for human liberty.

Dr. Garrison sees the American Constitution, with its sweeping guarantee of complete civil and religious liberty, as the greatest of all milestones in this long fight. But he warns that it is only a milestone, and that the goal is still a long way off.

His survey of the guises in which intolerance operates today is an informative and thought-provoking study.

Published by the Round Table Press, "Intolerance" sells for $2.50.

Child Tease Seeks More Attention

"What is the psychology behind the tease?" asks a lady.

It seems that her son is one of those things, and she is very much worried. No one loves a joker and every one detests a tease. The tease graduates into the joker. It is all one and the same thing.

I believe the psychology behind it is cruelty. Cruelty is "delight in suffering" and the only kick the tease can possibly get out of his performance is to see others made uncomfortable.

Before we go into it too seriously, let me mention the fact that most of us aren't a bit above laughing at someone who slips in the mud, loses his hat or misses his train. It is quite legitimate to chuckle at odd mishaps and nobody thinks us cruel when we do.

Won't Trust to Chance

Thus the same spirit probably motivates mischievous youngsters. Only they don't trust to chance to create these episodes. They plan the traps themselves. If they do it with gibes, or words, instead of tricks in hats, it is all the same thing. They like to see people squirm so they themselves can get a laugh.

A bit of teasing is usually regarded as normal and need not be taken seriously. However, when it becomes a habit, and increase in quality and quantity, then it earns the title of real cruelty.

Why? Well—there is the bully instinct, "inferiority" covering up its own shame by pretending to be a heck of a fellow.

Another answer is "jealousy." This is not most likely the case where the same person is always chosen for target.

Tensing Is Bid for Attention

Again, teasing is merely a bid for attention. Children and even adults who feel they are too little noticed often use unpleasant methods to gain attention.

A parent can regard the tease casually and without alarm if his antics are periodic and only in fun. But a chronic and vicious tease is different. Causes must be looked into.

Strange as it may seem, kindness and more love and sympathy are likely to work a charm.

However, to give the offender an occasional dose of his own medicine may help. But usually he is a short sport and can't take it. If this has been tried and failed, there is no harm in trying the milder method. It may supply the very craving for attention the child is after.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Bath Brush Beautifies Back

In these days of low décolletages a beautiful back, smooth shoulders and snow white arms and elbows are as important to a woman's beauty as a perfect complexion and pearly teeth. No evening gown can do you justice if your good grooming habits are applied only to face and neck.

Remember that the daily bath is the first, and certainly the most important, step to cleanliness and beauty. A quick shower won't suffice. I'm talking about an honest-to-goodness bath, with plenty of warm water, soap suds and the right beauty aids.

For instance, there's the little matter of a bath brush. There should be one in every woman's bathroom, and she should use it every day. If you don't own a bath brush, invest in one of the new, long-handled varieties with uniform bristles that are fine and soft and which will not irritate the skin.

When you're thoroughly lathered and massaged your back and shoulders, remove the brush from the handle (modern brushes are made that way, you know) and scrub arms, elbows, knees and feet. Notice how vigorous brushing removes discoloration and scalliness. Incidentally, daily massaging of the back stimulates circulation and will clear up small blemishes and pimples within a short time.

After your thorough bath, pat neck, arms, back, shoulders and legs with a body lotion or oil. There's a new French lotion on the market which, in addition to making your skin as smooth as satin, has a delightfully fragrant odor that clings until time for the next bath. It takes the place of cologne or toilet water, is easy to use and actually will keep the skin smooth and beautiful.

The review of the quarter's lessons has a significant title, "God in Hebrew History." God is in every history, though it is not always easy, particularly in the midst of contemporary events, to discern His hand and His judgment.

We are too apt to think of God, as certain Hebrews thought of Him, as being who is on our side, and who chooses us for His special relations and mercies, while ignoring the mercies of God that the truly devout and prophetic Hebrews had.

What the prophet saw was the importance of being on God's side. He knew that God did not make arbitrary choices and arbitrary judgments and that the Almighty was not a being subject to vain and human sentiments, ready to be swayed by man's show of devotion and by the obsequiousness of his ritualistic observances.

The prophet saw God as a being of righteousness and truth, merciful and ready to forgive and receive men who turned to Him from their sinfulness and error, but nevertheless unyielding in His righteousness demands on those who bowed in reverence with irreverent hearts.

Those who gave their allegiance to righteousness and truth were the chosen not the Almighty.

The prophet saw the judgments of God moving in the lives of individuals and nations. Sometimes it seemed that these judgments were uncertain or deferred. The prophet saw the wicked and the unrighteous flourishing as the green bay tree, while saints suffered want and persecution.

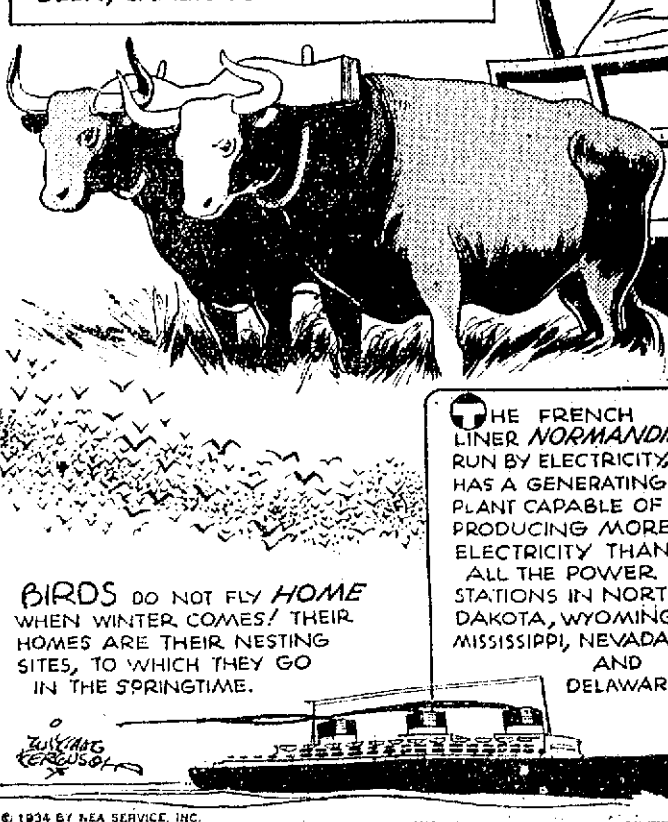

But things were not as they seemed. Injustice and sinfulness had within them the seeds of ruin and defeat.

Both Cardinals and Giants Are Beaten

National Pennant Race Still Stands One Game Apart

NEW YORK.—(AP)—The New York Giants received another severe setback in their battle for the National League pennant Wednesday when they dropped their second successive game to the Phillies, 5 to 4.

Gus Mancuso drove in all of the Giants' runs with two homers and a long fly but in the end, the world champions' first string catcher was the "goat" of the game. He failed to stop a low pitch by Relief Pitcher Adolfo Luque in the first of the ninth and Sylvester Johnson scored from third with the deciding run. The pitch first was scored as a wild pitch but the official scorer changed the ruling to a passed ball against the little Italian catcher.

The game was an exciting affair from the start with the Phillies scoring first in the fifth and the Giants tying the score in the eighth on Mancuso's long fly. Hal Schuttschler, seeking his 24th victory of the season, and Euel Moore, the Phillies' indignant hurler from Oklahoma, started on the mound but neither finished. Schuttschler was lifted for a pinch hitter in the fifth and was followed by Carl Hubbell and Luque, who was charged with the defeat. Moore was sent to the showers after Manager Bill Terry led off the eighth with a single, and Sylvester Johnson finished to receive credit for the victory.

St. Louis Leads

ST. LOUIS.—(AP)—White Hoyt, a world series star when Paul Dean was a barefoot boy in the Southern cotton fields, prevailed in the St. Louis Cardinals from moving into first place in the National League pennant race Wednesday.

Hoyt, who is making a remarkable come-back with the Pittsburgh Pirates, as the man of courage, and plain-spokenness.

Then in the last seven lessons of the quarter, we see the prophets in a new era of Israel's prosperity, appealing to the people to build upon true foundations and using them to right the wrongs that, unrighted, have brought every era of prosperity to ruin.

We see Amos in a flourishing period of the nation's materialism pleading for justice, urging that religious rites and worship be saved from formalism and pretense, and denouncing self-indulgence. With clear vision he saw captivity and defeat before a nation weakened in its morale.

In Hosea the prophet's message emphasizes the note of God's love, and in Micah we have a clear simple expression of religion in terms of justice and mercy in walking humbly before God.

It is these same notes that persist in the story of Ezekiel's leading of his people back to God, in Isaiah's contrast between true and false worship, and in his counsel to the nation to avoid untangling alliances and to link its destiny with the divine character and purpose.

We see the prophet in another role, in Elsie, helping the needy—the man of kindness and helpfulness as well.

Galveston Beaten in Dixie Opener

New Orleans Speed-Baller Mows Down Texas Champions 3-2

GALVESTON, Texas.—(AP)—Clay Bryant, young New Orleans speed ball pitcher, doubled with two down in the twelfth, then mowed home on Hughes' single to give his team a 3-to-2 victory over the Galveston Buccaneers Wednesday night in the first game of the Dixie series.

Notwithstanding that he scored the winning run, Bryant's outstanding performance of the night was his great pitching, particularly in the pitcher. The Buccaneers, who have opposition, scored in only one of the 12 innings.

The New Orleans right-hander was almost matched in effectiveness by Jim Blvin, one of Galveston's two best right-handers. Both pitchers showed signs of weakening in the extra innings but they stuck it out.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep...Vigor...Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of dangerous backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbar, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty a waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may take you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait until you are too weak to get up. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS...

...a doctor's prescription...which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS...the old reliable remedy that contains no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-McBee Co.

Our Days

The days they come, the days they go,
Beads upon life's chain,
With opalescent hues they glow,
Like drops of pearls rain.
That vivid rainbow colors show
This when life and hope are young
And love her sweetest songs hath sun.
The days they come, the days they go,
Notes upon life's scale
And minor chords of deepest woe
Tell of hopes that fail,
And greatest loss that earth can know.
God grant we keep the rainbow hue,
Still hope and youth's glad song
Renew.—Selected.

Miss Marie Perkins and little Miss Nannette Williams spent Wednesday with relatives in Foreman, they were accompanied home by Master Thos. Edward Cannon.

The Paisley P. T. A. held their September meeting at 3 Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium of the Paisley school. Much enthusiasm and interest was manifested by the 70 mothers present. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Ched Hall, and a most appropriate and beautiful devotional was given by Miss Mamie Bryant on the theme, "Let Us Rise Up and Build," basing her remarks on the story of Nehemiah. Mrs. George Green, principal of the Paisley school, introduced the teachers after which, Mrs. Dewey Hendrix read the by-laws. The president announced the various committee chairman, who gave reports. Plans for the school of instruction to be held on September 29th, were discussed, followed by Mrs. Minor Gordon reading the national president's message. In the count of mothers, Mrs. Charles Routon, Jr.'s room won the dollar.

On Tuesday evening at the Fair Park Service class of the First Christian Sunday school enjoyed a steak fry. Following the supper the guests were entertained with games and contests.

Census of Church Members Planned

Workers From 5 Churches to Meet at First Baptist Thursday

There will be a meeting of census workers from five of the churches of the city at First Baptist church Thursday night at 7:30. The following churches are cooperating: First Christian, First Methodist, Tabernacle, Our Lady of Good Hope, and First Baptist. The meeting Thursday night will be in preparation for the city wide religious census which will be made on Sunday afternoon. At that time 125 persons from the co-operating churches will meet at the First Baptist church for final instructions and will then go out in teams to cover the whole city in one afternoon. The census will be directed by J. P. Edmunds, state secretary of religious education for the Arkansas Baptist State Convention. Mr. Edmunds will be assisted by the pastors of the local churches and by seven out-of-town workers who will be here throughout the following week in an enlargement campaign and training school at First Baptist church.

Ashley County to Demand Showdown

Mass Meeting on Election Fraud Probe Called for Friday

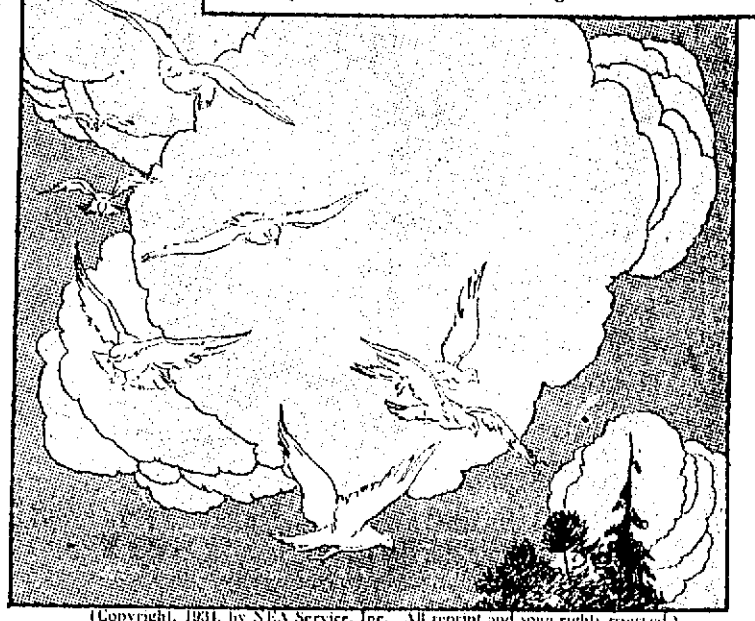

HAMBURG, Ark.—A mass meeting has been called here by citizens of Ashley county for 1:30 p. m. Friday as a result of an election contest filed in Ashle Circuit Court. Every ballot box in the run-off election of August 28 was found to have been tampered with. Tally sheets, registration of voters, and in many boxes, ballots were found to be missing. This meeting is called to make demands that the guilty persons be brought to justice. Carl E. Bailey, prosecuting attorney of Pulaski county and Democratic nominee for attorney general, has been invited by the citizens of Ashley county to attend the mass meeting. Bailey, over the telephone, said that, if possible, he would be present. Mr. Bailey has been informed that affidavits from judges and clerks at several precincts in Ashley county would seem to indicate a discrepancy of more than 1,000 in the vote for attorney general in the August 11 Democratic state primary. Returns filed by judges and clerks showed that Bailey carried the county by more than 400 majority but the official county tabulation gave Attorney General Hal L. Norwood a majority of 632.

FINALE

By Helen Welshmer

BECAUSE there was no other place to look
That quiet day my frightened eyes went high,
And so I saw the far-flung pattern
Of brave, swift wings beat down the clouding sky.
In search of drifting green, of distant springs,
They winged their way, and watching them I knew
Not all the birds that flew in gallantry
Would find the south... that there would be a few

WHOSE way would end before the flight was done,
End noiselessly... when birds in passing die
There is no cry, no faltering; unwatched
Their crumpled wings drop swiftly down the sky.
So would I go... around me all the surge
Of life that seeks the dawn, the south, the springs.
Oh, it would be a gracious thing to find
Eternity on brave, unbroken wings!

Germany Must Buy Food From World

Drouth Has Reduced Her Crops Below Consumption Demand

BERLIN.—The German Business Research Institute published Wednesday a survey of the effects of the drouth on German food supplies. This survey constitutes a serious blow to the Nazi plan of autarchy based on the bumper crops of the last few years. It reveals that during the coming year Germany will have to import far larger quantities of food and fodder than during the previous year to maintain her nourishment standard.

Since shrinking German exports have no strained German balance payments that they can be maintained only by rigid government control of foreign trade and the growing use of domestic substitutes for foreign raw materials, the food situation presents a new serious problem for Minister of Economics Schacht. It is expected to lead to intensification of Germany's efforts to promote barter deals with raw materials countries even if such deals as a rule entail higher prices because of the additional risk involved.

The survey shows a grain harvest—wheat, rye, oats and barley—of only 20,500,000 tons compared to 24,900,000 tons last year. There is a "national reserve" of which much has been made but it amounts to only 1,000,000 tons. Adding that to the crop, the supply still falls 2,400,000 tons below last year's actual consumption.

The domestic supply of other foods is even smaller in proportion. No official estimates of the potato crop have been published, but the Business Research Institute puts the crop at between 10 and 15 per cent. It likewise admits the production of vegetables, milk and eggs will be considerably lower this year. The only increased yields expected are in sugar beets, fruits and wine.

Arms Issue Ghost Raised by Russia

Europe Alarmed by Litvinoff's Message to League of Nations

GENEVA, Switzerland.—(AP)—A permanent peace conference in which the United States could participate is still the goal of Soviet Russia, Maxim Litvinoff, her commissar for foreign affairs, told the assembly of the League of Nations Thursday. Litvinoff is believed to have suggested a plan whereby the United States could officially and effectively participate in peace activities of the League without actually joining it.

Russia Raises Issue

GENEVA, Switzerland.—(AP)—Russia's surprise move to get the Council of the League of Nations to strike a balance on disarmament apparently had stirred up a hornet's nest Wednesday night.

Because of the "dynamite" contained in Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff's request that the council obtain a report on whether the disarmament conference can be successfully resumed, efforts were made Wednesday night to induce him to withdraw it.

Statesmen in some quarters were known to be apprehensive lest a report from Arthur Henderson, president of the Disarmament Conference, might blame failure of the conference on Germany's withdrawal.

This, it was explained inevitably would raise the question of the alleged rearming of Germany—a question which England for one is desirous of avoiding.

Litvinoff's proposal would throw the whole question of disarmament back into the lap of the League Council, which they would be responsible for choosing the path leading to disarmament.

Litvinoff said there had been no opportunity to discuss the question of disarmament until now because the assembly had refrained from appointing a disarmament committee.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and mawk and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or enema and wait until you feel better. You're already sick and hoarse and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down and out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. Take a good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. See at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

ELMONT PARK, L. I. Many a people chasing horse is frolicking on the flat.

This reverses the procedure, which over years has been put to mediocre and even first rate runners on the flat over the jumps.

The career of Brown Jack, England's famed thoroughbred, started the day Brown Jack has been the recipient of more universal publicity than any other galloper of the last few years. Known as the "world's craziest horse," Brown Jack made British turf history by winning the Alexandra Plate, at two miles and three quarters a half dozen times in a row.

Brown Jack started life as a character in the outlying districts of Old Albion. His ability at that flat was soon suspected, and, like the late mentioned Chase Me. He was given a shot at flat racing.

Distance His Dish
Brown Jack, aside from having a disposition which no one, except the veteran jockey, Steve Donahue, seems to have been able to figure out, proved no great shakes at such sprint distances as a mile, and a half or even two miles. He won over routes of over a mile and a half, and, really became a star at journeys of more than two miles.

Thus, at nine, Brown Jack brought his string to a close with a scintillating sixth straight victory in the Alexandra Plate, and added another brilliant chapter to the life of Donahue.

For a number of years the crack of Joseph E. Widener's whistles has been Azucar. This one is just about the best of the day, many considering him the peer of Arc Light, Tourist II, and Green Chusee.

Now at a fairly advanced age, Azucar is being given an opportunity to prove that he is something more than a one-race horse on the level by coming down in front of excellent fields.

Apparently he will enjoy himself in his new race to an even greater extent than did Brown Jack.
A peculiar thing is that Azucar has remarkably early foot—the sort one associates with a sprinter rather than an animal that can pick up 165 pounds and run with it on a four-mile quest. One might have expected Brown Jack to do well at two miles but hardly a sterling obstacle enter to excel at the shorter distances.

Whether the Widener connections will keep Azucar on the flat remains to be seen, but since opportunities for earnings are somewhat improved there he may remain to become one of the superior American sprinters, and to write something new in racing books.

Croutons Make Soups Children's Delight
Crunchy morsels used as Lure to Hearty Meals

BEACH CLUB GIRL

BOOTS RABURN, 18, closes with RUSS LUND, swimming instructor. When he goes to Florida, promising to spend for her later, she goes to work in a department store.

Russ does not write. Months pass and then comes word that he has been killed in a motorboat accident.

Boots meets DENIS PENWAT, young author, and EDWARD VAN NORTON, wealthy and socially prominent. Boots is in love with Denis and jealous of beautiful KAY CHILLIS (forth).

Boots gets a job in a book store and goes home to live in order to help her parents financially. Edward, rebuffed, urges her to marry him and finally she agrees. On Christmas Day they go for a walk in the forest. He is badly hurt saving her from a reckless driver.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLIII

DENIS came over to talk to Boots about Edward that night. "I ought to telephone him," she fretted, "but when I call the nurse says he's resting comfortably and that's all. Don't you think the doctor ought to let me go down there? I want to."

Denis was reassuring; he was a very tower of comfort. His coldness and aloofness had dropped from him like a garment. The doctor was perfectly right, he said. Ed was getting along like a house afire. He had grinned as he'd told about the cast they were putting on. And he had particularly stipulated that Boots was to stay in bed and remain perfectly quiet until L. Farge had given other orders. Her ruffled hair, her pink, woolly bedjacket made her look young and feverish. There was a glitter in her eyes.

"This was a punishment for me for not appreciating Edward as I should have," she told Denis excitedly. "I want to marry him right away, and make up to him for it."

"Don't talk so foolishly," he said sternly. "You had nothing whatever to do with it. It was a combination of reckless driver and heavy fog—that was all."

Isabel called up and even Patty called in the days that followed. On the third afternoon Boots was allowed to move rather shakily about her room. That evening Denis drove her down to the big brick building on one of New Martin's side streets and she saw Edward, looking big and handsome in the narrow hospital bed.

He laughed at the nurse; he laughed at everything. It was a riot, he said cheerfully. Boots was a sweet thing to worry about him, but look!—his were included the baskets of fruit and flowers, the bright jacketed books, the telegraphs. There was even a box photograph on a corner which grinned but the lines of the day.

DENIS stayed on at the Hartses.

Often and often during those first weeks he drove her down to New Martin to see the smiling young man in the big bed. Edward greeted them, grinning. The doctor was "nuts," he said cheerfully. He expected him to stay there in his back for six weeks! Meantime the music box tinkled cheerily away, the books and baskets from Fifth avenue confectioners continued to arrive and to be distributed grandly among the patients and nursing staff. Edward's mother arrived magnificently during the first week and, having assured herself that her son was in no danger, swept majestically off to Florida.

"You're my family," Edward told the cubes into deep hot fat and fry to a golden brown in 60 seconds. Choice of Bread is important.

The bread chosen for croutons is really more important than the method. It should be stale but not too dry and crumbling. Fine, close-grained bread is essential. Cut into slices about 1 1/2 inch thick, remove the crust and cut each slice into cubes with sharp knife. The cubes are dried until they are crisp through. After this they may be toasted or fried in deep fat.

Croutons may be properly served in two ways: Passed to each person immediately after his soup is placed before him, or if the soup is served by the head of the family at the table, English fashion, he may drop one or two tablespoons full of croutons into each plate as he serves it.

Croutons, unlike crackers, are supposed to go into the soup and form a

Boots as Denis ranged about the room, smoking cigar after cigar. "Look after her, won't you, Dinny?"

Denis had nodded restively. Boots was still at the shop. She would not tender her resignation until their marriage date was a certain thing. But the strain of the long winter was beginning to tell on her. She grew paler, noticeably thinner. There were always dark circles under her eyes now.

The doctor frowned thoughtfully whenever the invalid spoke of leaving the hospital. A little longer, he counseled. Better not rush it. A break like that was a serious thing, not to be trifled with.

"They're crazy about me here," Edward said, chortling. "They don't want to let me go."

There was a little nurse with Irish eyes and a wayward cap who had been on night duty for a while. Now the patient no longer required that service but Boots noticed idly that Miss Kerrigan was always somewhere about. She had "an appendectomy" just down the hall. She said gaily, but that was coming along all right. It appeared she had time to spare to dawdle in Mr. Van Selver's doorway, listening, chatting merrily.

February raged out and Edward was in a wheel chair. He could walk now, Dr. L. Farge said. It seemed odd to think of the tall young man taking a few tentative, almost frightening steps. Better not rush it.

The coal bills piled up at home. Boots paid one, paid something on another. Her father chafed at the restraints of the winter, also. Once Edward had spoken haltingly of a loan but Boots had been so proud in her refusal that he had not mentioned the matter since.

It seemed to the girl that every time she met Denis these days they quarreled. It was all right when they were in Edward's room together. Then they had to keep up appearances for the invalid's sake. But when they were alone each said sharp, hurting things to the other.

"How's the beautiful Kay?" She would lift her eyebrows insolently when she asked it.

"She shouldn't let you. She'll be home soon, though. Maybe I won't be glad."

"She hates me, she hates me," Boots would tell herself, burning with resentment.

MARCH stalked in and the bonds of fate seemed to draw more tightly about her. Edward spoke confidently now of their marriage.

It would only be a short time until he'd be as well as ever. Each time he mentioned it, the prospect seemed to draw nearer. The girl faced this with an actual fainting of the spirit.

"Good evening, Mrs. Lund. I'm just on the wing. Off duty. Got a little boy with tonsils in 304. He's going home right away." Thus Miss Kerrigan.

"She's a pretty little thing," Boots reflected. "That dazzling whiteness sets off her skin beautifully, and her eyes are blue as blue."

"Isn't she a swell girl?" Edward asked once after the nurse had swept her starchy skirts down the hall.

"Very pretty," Boots agreed. "Not jealous?"

"Not a bit," she told him, smiling and laying her cool hand on his big one.

part of it. Consequently they are eaten with the soup from the soup plate and never with the fingers.

Toast sticks are what their name implies, sticks of toast. The bread for these is cut in strips about 1-2 inch thick and 1-2 inch wide and 3 inches long. It is toasted in a hot oven and served unbuttered, like crackers, each person helps himself and butters his sticks or not, as he prefers. Toast sticks are not broken with the soup.

Proposed Initiative Act Submitted to the People of Hempstead County, Arkansas, by Initiative Petitioners.

Petitions have been filed in the office of the County Clerk, proposing Initiative Act No. 1 of Hempstead County, Arkansas, as follows:

"INITIATIVE ACT NO. 1 OF HEMPSTEAD COUNTY, ARKANSAS

"An Act to Fix the Compensation and Expenses of County Officers and to Fix the Manner in Which Such Compensation and Salaries Shall be Paid and to Reduce the Cost of County Government, and for Other Purposes."

Be it enacted by the people of Hempstead County, Arkansas:

Section 1. From and after January 1, 1935, the officers of Hempstead County, Arkansas, hereinafter named, shall receive and be paid out of the revenues of the County as hereinafter provided, the compensations and salaries herein provided, and nothing

"Love me?" "You know I do." It was true—it was true! No one could help loving Edward. He was one of the world's best. If her heart did not beat double time at the sound of his voice, her breath come and go suffocatingly in her throat at the thought of him that was surely no one's fault. But fine marriages, splendid marriages, and come of just such love as this. The other was a wildness, a dream that must be abandoned.

Denis appeared in the doorway. He had been smoking a cigar in the sunroom down the hall.

"There are 10,000 prospective fathers storming up and down this corridor," he announced gloomily, ruminating his hands into his trousers pockets.

Edward gave a shout of delight. "Ten thousand catfish! The maternity floor's the one above."

"I know, I know," Denis said. "But they've got some of them parked down here to keep em quiet."

The nurse on duty at the desk looked in smilingly to remind them that goodbys were imminent. Boots kissed Edward dutifully and went out in the hall toward the elevator.

"Bye, old man," Denis said, kicking the bed post for want of something better to do.

"Cheer-o!" Edward waved his hand. "Be seeing you."

The fair young girl and the dark-browed young man rode down in the grilles cage. A blue-eyed nurse in a crisp uniform flitted her skirts around the corner of the diet kitchen to watch them go. Then she stepped into Mr. Van Selver's room. Just to be sure he was settled for the night. The floor head was very busy!

ONE of these evenings when Boots arrived home her mother met her at the door in incoherence and excitement.

"Sh, don't let Daddy hear! It there shouldn't be anything to it?"

"To what?"

"The man came out from the newspaper right after I got the wire," went on the older woman in some agitation. "I was so flustered I didn't know what I was talking about. Even now I think there's something very odd about it all. Maybe someone's playing a practical joke."

Miss Florida was sitting tensely on the edge of a couch, her eyes very large.

"Would someone," Boots inquired indignantly, "tell me just what this is all about?"

"Here's what happened, Barbara," Miss Florida began, but was immediately interrupted by Mrs. Macburn.

"I bought a lottery ticket last night that charity thing, 'you know'."

"The Sweepstakes?"

"Yes. The buy at the drugstore had these tickets and he asked if I wanted one. I just thought I'd take a chance for the fun of it."

"You mean you've had some word?"

Her mother waved the yellow slip impatiently. Boots, taking it, read: "Congratulations your ticket 50735 was drawn await instructions being mailed March twentieth."

"It may be just a practical joke," faltered the older woman, her eyes filling. "But oh, my dear, if it isn't!"

ex-officio Tax Collector, where the fees for such services are not fixed by this act, he shall receive the fees for such services as fixed and found in Crawford & Moses' Digest of the Laws of Arkansas published in 1921, but without any amendment thereto.

Section 9. The Tax Assessor shall receive as compensation and salary the sum of Twenty-seven Hundred and no/100 Dollars ($2700.00) per year, and nothing more, for performing the duties of said office, in lieu of the fees, commissions, and other compensations allowed by law, and shall receive no other fees, commissions, emoluments, expenses, or perquisites, either directly or indirectly, for services rendered as such assessor or as deputy assessor.

Said Assessor may employ one deputy at a salary of not more than One Hundred and no/100 Dollars ($100.00) per month as herein provided.

Should the present law, requiring the County Clerk to make the tax books, be changed so as to put this work on the Tax Assessor, then the Tax Assessor may, with the approval of the County Judge and a majority of the members of the Levying Court, employ an extra deputy at a salary of Eighteen and no/100 Dollars ($18.00) per week for not more than sixteen weeks a year; provided such extra deputy may not be worked more than four weeks on any one approval; and, provided further, that the approval of said Judge and a majority of the members of the Levying Court may be obtained by mail or petition without the expense of assembling the Levying Court; provided further that if this extra deputy is allowed to the Tax Assessor by the County Judge and a majority of the members of the Levying Court on account of the law being changed as referred to, then the County Clerk may not have an extra deputy as provided in Section 5 of this act.

Such portion of the Assessor's salary and deputy's salary and expense as may be due from the State and other state agencies shall be paid into the County Treasury, to the credit of the County General Fund, and shall be used only for the purpose intended; and if such portion ever be paid directly to the Assessor or deputy, the same shall be deducted from the compensation as herein fixed, so that the entire amount paid to the Assessor shall not in any event exceed the sum of $2700.00 per year and the entire amount paid to the deputy shall not in any event exceed $180.00 per month.

Section 10. The County Treasurer shall receive as compensation and salary the sum of twenty-seven Hundred Dollars ($2700.00) per year for performing all duties, and out of said sum shall pay the County Treasurer's salary and other compensation, fees, or further compensation, either directly or indirectly, or as the result of holding the office.

The Treasurer may execute a "surety bond" to cover the first Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000.00) of liability for and on account of his or her official acts with some qualified surety or bonding company as surety thereon and, in that event, said Treasurer may file claim for premiums paid on such bond and the same shall be allowed and paid as an expense of said office.

Section 11. Sections 12, 13, 14, and 15 of this act have no reference to the Sheriff and ex-officio Tax Collector, since this act does not place him on a salary.

Section 12. All salaries provided for in this Act, unless otherwise provided, are annual salaries and shall be paid in monthly installments by county warrants, issued to and in the name of the officer or deputy entitled to same, and based upon a verified claim filed with the County Clerk, but no such claim shall be allowed or warrant issued until sufficient fees for such office have been earned and collected and paid to the county treasurer to pay the same; and thereupon warrants shall be issued for any months in arrears in said fiscal year, to be paid out of said fees so earned, collected and paid to the county treasurer. If the fees and compensation earned and collected during any fiscal year by any officer who, by law, is required to charge and collect fees or other compensation for services rendered, shall be insufficient to pay in full the compensation and salary provided by this act, then and in that event the salary of such officer and deputy shall be reduced ratably and alike in proportion to the earned and collected revenues of said office.

Section 13. All county officers whose salaries are fixed by this Act, except those receiving no fees, shall charge and collect, for the use and benefit of the County, the same fees, costs, commissions, perquisites and compensation as are now or hereafter required or permitted by law to be charged by such officer for such services. All sums so earned shall be public funds, the property of the County, and the collecting officer shall receive same as trustee for the County. The said fees and other compensation shall be collected in each instance in advance of the rendition of the said services, and each officer shall be charged in his settlements with all sums so earned by or accruing to the office whether collected or not; provided, however, that when bond for costs is tendered and accepted or sufficient cash deposit is made in lieu of bond for costs in any contested matter or action, in any of the courts, the clerk may carry the accruing costs as uncollected fees until the matter or action is concluded but, in no event longer than sixty days after final conclusion of said matter or action. Each such officer shall, between the first and fifth of each month, render in duplicate a duly verified report of all sums earned by the office during the preceding month, showing in detail the sources and amounts of said earnings, one copy of which shall be filed with the County Treasurer and the other with the County Clerk, and the reporting officer shall then pay to the County Treasurer

Schell Circus Has All New Equipment

4-Ring Circus Will Exhibit in Hope Wednesday, October 3

The entire equipment Schell Bros. Circus trucks, wagon, tents, paraphernalia, costumes and wardrobe, are all new this year.

The horses and wild animals of all species and kinds have undergone the most rigid inspection, and only those in the very pink of physical condition have been retained. Every detail and item not measuring up to the highest standard has been discarded, to make room for only the best obtainable.

These replacements, together with the vast enlargements in all departments, place the Schell Bros. Circus which shows here Wednesday, October 3, in the very van of all tented amusements.

The program has been recently augmented by several new and stupendous features, notable among which is the newly imported display of trained wild beasts acquired by representatives of this organization in Europe, at tremendous cost. Wild animal experts all over the world unanimously agree that these groups of jungle beasts are the very finest subjugated by man. Fabulous salaries have induced many of the world's greatest animal artists to affix their signature to Schell Bros. Circus contracts this season. Truly, our sole incentive in assembling this remarkable performance has been to obtain the best, regardless of expense.

Many new ideas have been adopted, both for the convenience and comfort of our patrons. Wherever attaches come in direct contact with the public they have been schooled in courtesy to the last degree, and the slightest complaint of their being discourteous results in their immediate dismissal.

London county ambulances made 40,619 trips and carried 39,767 patients in the period ending March 31, 1933. These figures do not include ambulances other than those maintained by the county council.

England Christens Sea's Largest Ship

Giant White Star-Cunard-er Is Launched as the "Queen Mary"

CLYDEBANK, Scotland — (AP) — Queen Mary of England, defying precedent, Wednesday gave her own name to the great Cunard-White Star liner which King George described as "the stateliest ship now in being."

Christened the "Queen Mary," the 40,000-ton hull—Britain's bid for supremacy of the seas—slid smoothly down the ways into the basin of the river Clyde.

The roar of rain on thousands of umbrellas and the volley of cheers from 250,000 spectators echoing from the hull's red and gray sides made the queen's christening words almost inaudible.

King George, whose brief address preceded the launching dedicated the ship to "revival of international commerce" and "better trade on both sides of the Atlantic," and the Prince of Wales, in his naval uniform, watched as the queen pressed the button that sent the huge hull gliding down the ways.

Elaborate precautions to stop the ship in its length, including 18,000 tons of drag chains and fleets of puffing, watchful tugs, met with entire success.

The king, in his address, gestured in friendly fashion toward the United States, though without calling that nation by name, he said.

"This (ship) is built to carry the people of two lands, in great numbers, to and fro, so that they may learn to understand each other. Both are faced with similar problems, and they prosper and suffer together. May she in her career bear many thousands of each race to visit each other as students and return as friends."

MacLavis had deposited his savings, which amounted to about $2,500 in a certain bank. A few weeks later he approached the cashier and demanded his money. He was asked if he did not want to leave a small balance, just to keep the account open.

"No," he persisted, "I want my money."

So the cashier counted out the $2,500 and handed the bundle of notes to him.

With great deliberation he counted the bundle and handed it back.

"That's O.K.," he said, "I only wanted to see if it was all there."

Long Sustained by La. Supreme Court

Election Ordered for High Bench, and Campaign Is "On"

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — The Louisiana Supreme Court Wednesday split wide open over Huey Long's election practices and three justices passed down a writ which permits holding a second primary called in the Third district to fill a vacancy on the supreme court bench left by the death of one of their members, Justice Winston Overton.

Three justices of the court granted a writ asked by E. A. Conway, secretary of state, to suspend judgment of Judge W. Carruth Jones, in East Baton Rouge District Court, ordering Conway to recognize Judge "Thomas F. Porter, of Lake Charles, as Third District Democratic nominee for the Supreme Court in the September 11 primary.

Judge Porter was the anti-Long candidate in the primary, but his opponent, Justice Overton, died two days before the election and in the opinion of Judge Jones in the lower court, Porter was entitled to be declared the nominee under the primary law.

But Long, who was supporting Justice Overton for re-election, declared that no election had been held, had the District Executive declared the primary "null and void," and another election was called for October 9.

The senator is now stumping the Third District for Lieut. Gov. John B. Fournet, his candidate for that election, and is declaring that his enemies are trying to elect Judge Porter to the bench so he can rule against the dictatorial laws passed for the "king-fish" by the recent special session of the legislature.

Judge ones of Baton Rouge enjoined Secretary of State Conway from having the ballots printed for the October 9 election.

"Full Feeling" After Meals

Here is how Thedford's Black-Draught proved helpful to Mr. Archie W. Brown, of Fort Grant, Fla.: "I have taken Black-Draught when I have felt dull from over-eating or eating too hurriedly," he writes. "Small doses right after meals rid me of gases and heavy feeling. I am a great believer in Black-Draught."

tober primary and instructed him to place Porter's name on the official ballot for the general election November 6.

But the three members of the supreme court suspended his writ until November 26 which means that the case will come up for hearing on its merits more than two weeks after the general election.
